GRAND TOTAL OF CREDITS    121

Notes: This plan represents ONE way to complete the degree in four years; it is not the only way. It assumes the student enters college in a fall semester as a declared major in sociology.

<sup>1a</sup>Completing SOC 100 satisfies either three general credit hours in "individual and society" or "global viewpoints."

<sup>1b</sup>Completing SOC 101 satisfies either three general education credit hours in "cultural pluralism" or "global viewpoints."

<sup>2</sup>Regarding general education, the sociology program requires SOC 100 as a prerequisite to all its courses but that course does not count toward the 33 hours required for the major. The sociology program also recommends (not re- quires) that you complete two written communication classes during the first year; one oral communication class and the mathematics/statistics (STA 205 highly recommended) requirements in the second year; the natural science course without a lab in fall of the second year; and the natural science course with a lab in the spring of the second year. How students decide to sequence the other general education requirements is up to them. Keep in mind that the two science courses must be from different disciplines.

<sup>3</sup>Check with your minor department on the number of credit hours needed for that specific minor (the number of credits can range from 21-27 hours). This plan assumes 21 hours. If more than 21 credit hours are needed to earn the minor, use elective course choices to fulfill additional credit hours for the minor. If sociology majors have earned the required credit hours for the chosen minor, consider adding another concentration or upgrading your concentration to a minor. Or you might also consider upgrading a minor to a second major.

<sup>5</sup>Be sure to complete at least 45 credit hours at the 300-level or above. A sociology major includes up to 33 credit hours that are 300 and above. This means you must take at least 12 credits at the 300-level or above as part of your minor, concentration (12 hours) or elective choices outside the major/minor/concentration.
